

Contents

Professional Mariner August 2011

Towing

- 16 Small towing company from Maine finds ways to make ends meet

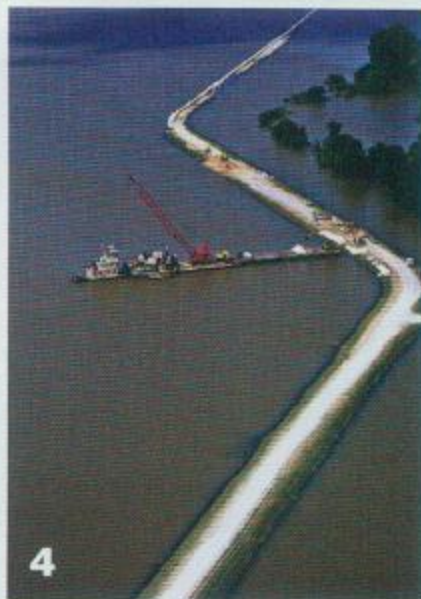

BY BRIAN GAUVIN

Industry Signals

FLOODING SPECIAL REPORT

- 4 Historic high waters disrupt cargo, create navigation hazards and threaten channels
- 11 Coast Guard criticizes divided command, flag state in Deepwater Horizon disaster
- 13 Canadian company orders five lakers, Wheat Board orders two others
- 15 Towing industry about to get its first look at proposed vessel inspection rules

Technology

- 22 Management software links ship and shore decision makers

BY CHRIS BERNARD

Trends & Currents

- 42 In a tough job market, training is more important than ever

BY DAVID A. TYLER

A Mariner's Notebook

- 48 For safety, everyone must understand the same language

BY CAPT. KELLY SWEENEY

Contents

Professional Mariner August 2011

Maritime Casualties

- 26 Mississippi closed for three days after barges sink near Baton Rouge
- 29 Coast Guard coxswain found guilty of dereliction in fatal collision
- 31 Cargo ship runs aground sideways, blocking St. Lawrence Seaway traffic
- 33 Workboat crewman dies after urging rescuers to assist crewmate
- 34 Barge with housing destined for Haiti lost after tug loses propulsion off Cuba
- 36 Freighter drifts off Nantucket after fire damages propulsion system
- 37 Puerto Rico pushboat takes on water and sinks, crew rescued
- 38 Tour boat with 31 aboard grounds in Florida after mooring line parts
- 39 Pilot swims for his life as towboat sinks in swollen Ohio River
- 40 Hopper dredge ruptures natural gas pipeline in La. ship channel
- 41 Barge sinks after tow hits Mississippi River railroad bridge

Vessels at Work

- 24 Former Navy tugboat gets updated again as a green z-drive

BY BRIAN GAUVIN

ON THE COVER

Towboats and their barges were stacked up on the bank of the Mississippi above Baton Rouge after an accident forced the closure of the flood-swollen river in late May. See story, Page 4. Photo by Brian Gauvin

Features

- 20 Women assess the travails and satisfactions of careers as mariners
BY DOM YANCHUNAS
- 44 Severe storm brings trans-Pacific tow of 658-foot laker to an abrupt end
BY ALAN HAIG-BROWN

