

The Human Experiment

The Permanent, Unmistakable Mark Human Beings Have Left on Planet Earth

By Jan Zalasiewicz

What Life Will Be Like on a Much Warmer Planet

By Katie Peek

1 World, 10 Billion People: Who Thrives, and Who Falls Behind?

By Mara Hvistendahl

How Inequality Threatens Civil Society

By Angus Deaton

The First Tinkering with Human Heredity May Happen in the Infertility Clinic

By Stephen S. Hall

Does Aging Have an Off Switch?

By Bill Gifford

Would You Live Forever (If You Could)?

By Hillary Rosner

Can Humans Outsmart Extinction?

By David Grinspoon

What a Science Fiction Writer Knows about Predicting the Future

By Kim Stanley Robinson

20 Big Questions about the Future of Humanity

| ONLINE EXCLUSIVES |

A Short History of the Future

By Dan Schlenoff

Olympics 2016: What Makes or Breaks Top Athletes

More Book Recommendations for September

By THE EDITORS

Digitizing Your Analog Movies Is Just the Beginning

By David Pogue