

Building a See-Through Brain

By Karl Deisseroth

---

Enceladus's Hydrothermal Vents Could Revolutionize the Search for Extraterrestrial Life

By Frank Postberg, Gabriel Tobie and Thorsten Dambeck

---

A Very Personal Problem

By Dina Fine Maron

---

The Truth Brokers: How Science Gets Filtered

By THE EDITORS

---

How the FDA Manipulates the Media

By Charles Seife

---

What Science Is Buzzworthy?

By THE EDITORS

Scientists Should Speak Out More

By Susana Martinez-Conde, Stephen L. Macknik and Devin Powell

---

How Much Do El Niño and La Niña Affect Our Weather?

By Emily Becker

---

Can Scientists Save Species Threatened by Climate Change by Relocating Them?

By Richard Conniff

---

| ONLINE EXCLUSIVES |

Scientists Create a Window into the Brain [Video]

By Gary Stix

---

First Active Hydrothermal System Found beyond Earth

By Lee Billings

---

How Gene Testing Could Help You Find Personalized Painkillers

By Lydia Chain and Dina Fine Maron

Fleet of Sensors Heads into the Heart of El Niño

By Richard Monastersky and Nature magazine

---

The Ominous Story of Syria's Climate Refugees

By John Wendle

---

More Book Recommendations for October

By THE EDITORS

---

#shameonshamers: Virtual Shaming Breaks Real Lives

By David Pogue

How Scientists Can Engage the Public without Risking Their Careers

By Susana Martinez-Conde, Stephen L. Macknik and Devin Powell

---

The Year 1916 in the Great War

By Dan Schlenoff

---

Creationism Invades Europe

By Stefaan Blancke and Peter C. Kjærgaard

---

| D E P A R T M E N T S |

In Case You Missed It: The First Dengue Vaccine Becomes Available, the World Drone Racing Championships Converge on Hawaii--and More!

FROM THE EDITOR

New Views: See-Through Brains, the World's Science, Enceladus's Oceans

LETTERS

Readers Respond to the June 2016 Issue

ADVANCES

In the Dark about Dark Matter

Send in the Clones: Cloned Mammals Are Just as Healthy as Their "Natural" Counterparts

The U.S. Is About to Get Much Better Weather Satellites

Depressed? Do What You Love

New Robot Helps Babies with Cerebral Palsy Learn to Crawl

The Breast Has Its Own Microbiome--and the Mix of Bacteria Could Prevent or Encourage Cancer

Why Don't Deer Crash into One Another When Startled?

Melting Ice in the Arctic Is Actually a Nightmare for Archaeologists

FORUM

The DEA's Decision to Keep Pot Restrictions Perpetuates Hypocrisy

THE SCIENCE OF HEALTH

Why the Go-To Stroke Drug Can Fail

THE SCIENCE AGENDA

STEM Education Is Vital--but Not at the Expense of the Humanities

TECHNOFILES

The Bright Side of Internet Shaming

RECOMMENDED

An Astronaut Tells It Like It Is in New Book

SKEPTIC

Radical Life-Extension Is Not around the Corner

ANTI GRAVITY

Hanging with Scientists at the Bottom of the Grand Canyon

50, 100 & 150 YEARS AGO

In 1916, a New Technology for Warfare: Tanks

GRAPHIC SCIENCE

More People Than Ever Are Migrating Because of Strife