

Entangled Wormholes Could Pave the Way for Quantum Gravity

By Juan Maldacena

Human–Animal Embryos: A Potential New Source of Transplant Organs

By Juan Carlos Izpisua Belmonte

Can Small Fusion Energy Start-Ups Conquer the Problems That Killed the Giants?

By W. Wayt Gibbs

These Truths Are Not Self-Evident—but They've Been Firmly Established Over and Over by Scientific Research

By Michael Shermer, Harriet Hall, Ray Pierrehumbert, Paul Offit and Seth Shostak

Killer Whales Are Speciating Right in Front of Us

By Rüdiger Riesch

An Anti-Addiction Drug Called Ibogaine Could Be a Wonder Cure—Or an Addict Killer

By James Nestor

Evidence Rebuts Chomsky's Theory of Language Learning

By Paul Ibbotson and Michael Tomasello

| ONLINE EXCLUSIVES |

Political and Industry Leaders Make a Case for Basic Research

By Steve Mirsky

Fusion Energy

By Michael Moyer

Grading the Presidential Candidates on Science

By Christine Gorman and Ryan F. Mandelbaum

Quantum Entanglement-The Movie

Salt: Historical Notes from Scientific American

By Dan Schlenoff

Standard Treatments for Drug Addiction

By Josh Fischman

Nothing Is New under the Technology Sun

By David Pogue

What Salamanders Are Teaching Scientists about How to Regrow Tissue [Video]

By Christine Gorman

Solving the Rubik's Equation

By Lydia Chain

| DEPARTMENTS |

FROM THE EDITOR

Theory and Truth: Quantum Gravity versus 5 Unassailable Scientific Facts

LETTERS

Readers Respond to the July 2016 Issue

ADVANCES

As Earth Warms, the Diseases That May Lie within Permafrost Become a Bigger Worry

Beetles Spark Heated Debate Between Traditional Taxonomists and DNA Bar Coders

The Artificial Pancreas Is Here

It's Official: Three-Toed Sloths Are the Slowest Mammals on Earth

How the Man in the Moon Got His Enormous Right Eye

Mosquitoes Will Save Us All ... from Mosquitoes

In Case You Missed It: The Nasal Spray Flu Vaccine Doesn't Work, Britain Gets a Sugar Tax—and More!

Engineers Debut the Acoustic Prism

Elephant Footprints Teem with Life

The U.S.'s First Offshore Wind Farm Is Scheduled to Open This Month

Science? In the Elections?

FORUM

Baltimore Is Attacking the Roots of Violence with Public Health Measures—and Saving Lives

THE SCIENCE OF HEALTH

Blue LEDs Light Up Your Brain

THE SCIENCE AGENDA

Trump's Views on Science Are Shockingly Ignorant

TECHNOFILES

When Tech Companies Copy One Another's Best Ideas, Consumers Suffer

RECOMMENDED

Inside the World of Competitive Rubik's Cube Solving

SKEPTIC

Why Political Pessimism Trumps Optimism

ANTI GRAVITY

The Grand Canyon Puts You in Touch with Time

50, 100 & 150 YEARS AGO

Ancient Technology Feeds the Need for Salt in 1916

GRAPHIC SCIENCE

Patent Data Show That Companies Invent in Very Different Ways