April 2017, Vol 51, No 578

Features

16 Abandonment

New rules aim to help stranded seafarers

18 Tug safety

Pulling power needs careful checks

22 Medical and health

Putting seafarer fatigue on the agenda and cooking up a morale booster

28 Security and piracy

Reporting incidents helps fight pirates

on the cover

Three years of research by industry bodies and training institutes proves that crew fatigue during time at sea is a real issue. Masters are most at risk, the report suggests. Fatigue can cause both mental and physical health problems. Learn more about the report on page 22

Regulars

4 Our say

Richard Clayton says shipping must regard corruption as a top safety issue

5 Your say

'Staying in the now' can cut accidents

6 News

Piracy escalates in Sulu Sea: Box ship fire extinguished; Weight rule enforcement criticised; El Faro analysis

12 Security news

Insurers urged to take a lead on maritime use of technology and its risks

14 Training news

The king of the Netherlands visits the renovated De Ruyter maritime college

32 Security insight

The focus of pirate violence in the Gulf over the years may have come full circle

33 Regulation insight

Cost of training could push STCW trainers in US out of the industry

34 Safety briefing

Self-ignition starts fire in cargo hold

36 MARS

Contact due to outdated chart; cargo basket mishooking incident

39 Products

Streamlined searchlight meets user needs; DP signal simulator launched

42 View astern

Why mattresses, and getting a good night's sleep, matter on board

For further in-depth coverage go to Fairplay.IHS.com

Contact us by email at safetyatsea@ihs.com

Professional Rescue Equipment for smaller vessels

Rescue Scoop:

Rescue Dummy:

Crane- or boom operated rescue net for recovering able or disabled persons Manual recovery system for gentle, horizontal

Rescue Frame: rescue of casualties

Realistic rescue dummy of human proportions

(1,8m tall, 85kg max weight)

E-mail: Rescue@dacon.no | www.dacon.no