

Maritime Policy & Management

Volume 37 Number 4 July 2010

Contents

- 329 A chance constrained programming model for short-term liner ship fleet planning problems
Qiang Meng and Tingsong Wang
- 347 Integration of foreign trade and maritime transport statistics in Spain
Luisa Escamilla-Navarro, Leandro García-Menéndez and Eva Pérez-García
- 377 Maritime cluster of Japan: implications for the cluster formation policies
Masato Shinohara
- 401 World container port throughput follows lognormal distribution
Ding Ding and Chung-Piaw Teo
- 427 Cost assessment of ship emission reduction methods at berth: the case of the Port of Piraeus, Greece
Ernestos Tzannatos
- 447 The Rotterdam Rules: Catalyst for trade or cumbersome convention?
Nazery Khalid and Capt. Rakish Suppiah
- 451 Call for Papers

Recommended by the International Association of Maritime Economists

Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group