

National Taiwan University Law Review

Volume 5, Number 1, March 2010

Contents

Articles

- The Emergence of Modern Constitutional Culture in Taiwan
Tay-sheng Wang & I-Hsun Sandy Chou 1
- Class Action in Taiwan: A New System Created Using the Theory of "Right of Procedure Options"
Kuan-Ling Shen 39
- A Comparative Study of Judicial Review Procedure Types—The Option of Constitutional Procedure System in Reform of the Constitutional Review of Taiwan
Chien-Liang Lee 73
- Information Privacy in a Network Society: Decision Making
Amidst Constant Change
Ming-Li Wang 127
- From Monadic Sovereignty to Civitas Maxima: A Critical Perspective on the (Lack of) Interfaces Between International Human Rights Law and National Constitutions in East Asia
Keun-Gwan Lee 155

Roundtable

- Asian Constitutionalism at Crossroads: New Challenges and Opportunities
Albert Hung-Yee Chen, Jong-Sup Chong, Yasuo Hasebe, Cheryl Saunders, Kevin YL Tan, Jiunn-Rong Yeh 181

Student Notes

- Unpatriotic Heretics or Conscientious Objectors: Difficulties
Which Jehovah Witnesses Face in Taiwan and South Korea
Chien-Chih Lin 201
- Livelihood v. Equality: A Comparison of Visually Impaired
Massage Law in Taiwan and Korea
Chun-Yuan Lin 229